

17th Transatlantic Business Conference

November 29-30, 2023, Frankfurt am Main

About the Transatlantic Business Conference

With 120 years of history, the American Chamber of Commerce in Germany e.V. is a powerful voice of transatlantic business. Once a year, it organizes its Transatlantic Business Conference. For well over a decade, this conference has continued to provide a powerful platform for networking and exchange on the most relevant transatlantic topics for our members and decision makers from politics, business, think tanks, and the media. Participation numbers have usually ranged between 150 – 250 people. With prominent media partnerships as well as coverage on AmCham Germany's social media channels, the conference also targets the general public. Prominent keynote speakers in 2022 have included Parliamentary State Secretary Franziska Brantner, German Federal Ministry for Economic Affairs and Climate Action, Marisa Lago, Under Secretary of Commerce for International Affairs, Prof. Dr. Siegfried Russwurm, President, Federation of German Industry (BDI), among others.

Topics and Formats in 2023

AmCham Germany's 17th Transatlantic Business Conference is planned as an in-person event on November 30, 2023, in Frankfurt am Main. On the eve of the conference, Wednesday, November 29, 2023, a networking reception will be hosted at one of our conference partners.

In 2023, picking up the momentum to further deepen transatlantic economic cooperation and strengthen transatlantic sovereignty, will continue to be crucial to increase the competitiveness and resilience of our economies. To this end, key priorities for AmCham Germany in 2023 include: deepening transatlantic trade relations by fostering open trade and the elimination of trade barriers; advocating for a transatlantic approach on joint standards and norms; stressing the need for closer cooperation in healthcare and life sciences and energy security; as well as strengthening Germany as a business and investment location. At our 2023 Transatlantic Business Conference, we are excited to highlight diverse voices of transatlantic business to discuss these topics.
