

High-Performance IT and Personnel Services

Digitalization, the Fourth Industrial Revolution, Big Data, Cloud Computing, IT Security – the rapid progress technology is making today presents major challenges for companies in all industries. A firm can only be successful in implementing the necessary innovations if it can find the right qualified personnel and service partners. Project staff, in particular, must be available at the right time and in the right place and have the appropriate skills.

A pioneer & market leader

Goetzfried AG, headquartered in Wiesbaden and with sites from Hamburg to Zurich, helps its customers to successfully master the technological transformation. Founded in 1987, we now rank as one of the leading German IT and engineering service providers for staff and projects with our more than 1,300 employees.

We make companies fit for the future

We deliver the best IT specialists and engineers available on the market “just in time” to make companies fit for the requirements of digitalization. In addition, we offer customized services for the completion of IT and engineering projects and also take on work packages. Furthermore, we fill vacant technical and management positions in the IT department with employees who are perfect matches.

Flexibility & solutions expertise

With our broad portfolio of services, we combine the flexibility of a personnel service provider with the solutions expertise and industry understanding of an IT and engineering service provider. More than 300 national and international clients, among others from the fields of industry, finance, government, healthcare and telecommunications, already rely on our services.

We would be happy to convince you too of our performance.
